

Chuck and Beth have hiked the John Muir Trail through the High Sierra, the 500-mile Colorado Trail, Pacific Crest Trail through Oregon and trails in Wales and Peru. Chuck has also thru-hiked the Appalachian Trail.

Now venture with them on a 1400-mile trail that is still young and undiscovered by the masses. There are rock ledges, waterfalls, lazy rivers, rushing streams, lakes, state parks, Native American ceremonial mounds, covered bridges, canal towpaths, canal boat rides, pioneer homesteads, military campaigns, and museums of bicycles, airplanes, early forts, and U.S. presidents. Add to that, people to meet, with stories of their own to share.
